

Easily accessible by air, train, or highway, once in Rochester, it's easy to get around. Whether getting to your meeting, dining out in one of our entertainment districts, or exploring more than 12,000 acres of parkland, our commute times are ranked among the shortest in the nation.

The Greater Rochester International Airport is serviced by seven airlines—Air Canada, Allegiant, American, Delta, JetBlue, Southwest, and United. GRIA is located a short 10-minute drive to downtown with most hotels offering free shuttle service.

A new Amtrak train station is currently under construction, promising future arrivals and departures in a new state-of-the-art terminal. Meanwhile, a temporary terminal at that site continues serving passengers—just a 5-minute cab ride to downtown hotels.

Of course, Rochester is accessible by three stops located along the New York State Thruway system, making driving here a comfortable option.
